

Wasafiri New Writing Prize 2009

Renowned worldwide for featuring some of the best and brightest new talent, Wasafiri is launching a New Writing Prize as part of its 25th birthday celebrations. In the words of acclaimed author Jackie Kay, 'Wasafiri holds it all together, the past and the future. It is vigorous, searching and stimulating'. Since Wasafiri was first published in 1984, it has consistently aimed to shift the contours of established literary canons and remapped the borders of international contemporary writing, creating new imaginative spaces and publishing some of the most promising new literary voices.

How to enter

The competition is open to anyone worldwide who has not published a complete book. We are looking for creative submissions in one of three categories: Poetry, Fiction or Life Writing. Simply incorporate the theme of '25' somewhere in your piece, fill in the entry form and send it to us with your entry fee of UK Sterling £5.00 (see overleaf for terms and conditions). The closing date is 30 June 2009.

Entrants who are visually impaired or who are prevented from typing through disability can enter stories on audio CD.

Prizes

£300 will be awarded to the winner of each category and their work will be published in Wasafiri.

I have read and accepted the conditions of entry (see overleaf)

Conditions of Entry

1. The competition is open to any nationality and any age group.
2. Word limit is 3000 maximum.
3. Work submitted must be previously unpublished, original and in English. It should not have been submitted to any other competition.
4. Work must be typed, double-spaced, on A4 paper, single sided only etc.
5. Do not write your name, or provide any other form of identification on your manuscript. All submissions will be considered without the judges knowing the identity of the entrant.
6. Work will only be accepted if accompanied by an official entry form and fee payable to Wasafiri. If you require acknowledgement of receipt, entries must also be accompanied by a stamped addressed postcard.
7. We regret that manuscripts cannot be altered after submission.
8. If emailing your manuscript, please send it as a Word attachment. Do not paste it into the bottom of the email.
9. All electronic submissions will receive an acknowledgement.
10. Fee is per entrant: the entrant can submit a maximum of one entry per category — in the Poetry category one submission can include up to five poems.
11. Entries must be received at the offices of Wasafiri, The Open University in London, 1-11 Hawley Crescent, London, NW1 8NP, UK no later than 30 June 2009.
12. The judges' decision is final. No correspondence or discussion concerning the judges' decision will be entered into.
13. The copyright will remain with the winning authors. Acceptance of the prize will indicate the author's agreement to their work being published in Wasafiri and the inclusion in a possible anthology of the best work received.
14. Wasafiri reserves the right to edit the winning entries.
15. Failure to meet the conditions of entry will mean that a submission is automatically disqualified from the competition.
16. No person may win more than one prize.
17. The competition is not open to members of the Wasafiri Board.
18. Shortlisted authors will be notified on 30 September 2009 and will be invited to the prize-giving event at the South Bank Centre, London on 31 October 2009.
19. A list of shortlisted authors will be put on our website on 1 October 2009 and can be posted out if requested.
20. Manuscripts will not be returned.
